Local Actors Enter Tourney

The Rancho Community players, in the process of finding a suitable building to establish a community theatre, find themselves very busy today preparing for the eighth annual Southern California Tournament of One Act Plays.

Cast members, under the direction of founder Art Gordon, are holding regular rehearsals of a scene from "Dark of the Moon," to be presented at the tournament May 5.

Although unconfirmed as yet, there is a possibility the act will be presented locally before the Riverside competition.

The scene finds a young girl,

UCI Conclave Will Feature Nobel Winner

British scientist Sir Peter Medawar, 1960 Nobel Prize winner in medicine, will be featured speaker at the University of California, Irvine spring conclave on "Genetic Cures for Social Ills."

All classes will be dismissed on April 6, starting at 2 p.m., to allow full student and faculty participation in discussions on the controversial issue. The public also is invited to attend.

Medawar, who shared the world's top prize for discovering a method of inducing immunological tolerance for transplanting living organs, will lead off the conclave with his lecture at 2 p.m. in Campus Hall.

Following Medawar's lecture, discussion sessions will meet in the Fine Arts Building.

Discussion will center on controversial suggestions that eugenics might be used to solve social problems of crime, poverty and unemployment, as well as traditionally genetic problems of haemophilia, diabetes and types of insanity.

An informal dinner will be held in Campus Hall at 6 p.m., to be followed by a panel of experts from various academic disciplines.

Barbara Allen, in church with her mother for the first time since her marriage to a "witch boy."

When she takes to the mourners bench, her relationship with the witch boy is suddenly, and mysteriously severed.

The cast includes: Gary White, Haggler; Libby Falls, Hattie; Jacque Knight, Greeny; Judy Streng, Mrs. Summey; Carol Stanfield, Miss Metcalf; Judi Johnson, Edna; Olga Warrack, Leafy; Jean de Vries, Mrs. Allen; Bunny Hammer, Mrs. Bergen.

And also Judy Mayer, Barbara; Miguel Garcia, Floyd; Ross Stanfield, Smellicue; Bob Greco, Marvin; David Noll, Hank Gudger; Richard Springer, Mr. Allen.

UCI Student History Winner

Honorable mention in the annual Woodrow Wilson Fellowship competition has been won by a history major at the University of California, Irvine.

Named in the national competition was Miss Virginia L. Schroader, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Schroader of Ventura.

In announcing the winners, Sir Hugh Taylor, president of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, said the 13,596 entries from 1022 colleges in the United States and Canada were "the best in the history of the program."

Modern Classic Screens at UCI

"Six Characters in Search of an Author," Luigi Pirandello's classic of modern drama will be the third presentation of the season for the Students' Repertory Theater at the University of California, Irvine.

Opening Friday, April 7, "Six Characters" will be performed three nights, April 7-9, at 8:30 p.m. in the UCI Studio Theater. Tickets are on sale weekdays, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., in the UCI Box Office. An earlier scheduled opening was postponed to avoid conflict with other events on campus.

According to Robert Cohen, SRT director and professor of drama, "Six Characters" is one of the most perplexing and provocative plays of all times. "It caused a revolution in the theater when it was first presented and has gained in importance as the theater world has become more ready for it," he said.

SRT's successful run of three, one-act contemporary comedies closed this week with a visiting performance at the College of the Desert in Palm Springs.

By Janis Venstrom

Moving into a new home is exciting, but can also be very expensive. Trying to make the outside of your home look established with plush landscaping and at the same time trying to furnish the inside costs money. What to buy first is always a dilemma, when something else might be more important to one member of the family than the other.

If you have small children, they always seem to be playing on the floor, and for that reason carpeting might stave off a few colds. Since Dad never seems to want to invest in such an item, it is difficult, but if the children's health were at stake he might possibly fit it in the budget.

I have recently found out about a tremendous savings on carpet buying right in our local area. Crestmark of Laguna Hills, is closing out its carpet remnants and roll-ends that were remaining from Leisure World installations. Their advertisement of this sale is on page seven of the Rancho Reporter for location of the warehouse. It would be worth your time to check into this if you are thinking of adding carpeting to that long list of needed items for your home.

Orthodontist Opens At Plaza

When La Paz Plaza opens its doors Saturday, John H. Murray, D.D.S., formerly of San Clemente, will hang out his shingle for local customers.

Murray, an orthodontist, said he wants "to offer a service which many local residents will wish to know about." And that he hopes you will keep him in mind.

but can be a recreational item right at home, saving gasoline money, restaurant expenses and time, which is worth money to some. With our growing population it seems a chore to go anyplace on a week-end, what with the stop and go traffic you must contend with. Secard Pools in Orange, at 323 S. Main St. has a portable pool that is really catching on in that you can enjoy having a swimming pool at a much lower price and still not have a limited buyer when and if you sell your home. These pools have come a long way as far as looks and durability are concerned. They are lowered into a hole, so you can have the depth needed for diving and they come in a wide range of sizes and shapes.

These pools come equipped with heaters, filters and decking which is included in the total price so you do not have to subcontract any extras. The weather is getting nice and a dip in your own pool in between yard work or housecleaning might be a pleasant relief, so why not stop by and take a look at the Secard Pool display in Orange.

Cinderella Story Ends As UCI Takes NCAA 2nd

A Cinderella story that had only the final chapter missing!

That's the proud ending to the 1966-67 swimming season for the University of California, Irvine Anteaters after a stirring, NCAA college swimming and diving championship that still has collegiate water sports enthusiasts buzzing.

UC Santa Barbara won the 1967 national collegiate team title Saturday night in the City of Commerce's Aquatorium, 255 1/2 to 246, but the charge of the runner-up Anteaters of UCI will be remembered for a long time.

Coach Al Irwin's squad, down by 32 1/2 points to UCSB going into the final evening's seven-event program, scored 103 1/2 points in a record shattering single night performance that scared the daylights out of the Gauchos and had a non-partisan crowd roaring its approval.

The second place finish erased any doubts, if there were any, about the fact that the Anteaters had built a national swimming power of Orange County student-athletes, in two short years.

UCI, striving for a story-book ending to its first-ever competition in an NCAA tournament in any sport, inched to within one and one-half points of the leading Santa Barbarans, 223-1/2 to 222, with one event remaining, but Costa Mesa sophomore Bob Wilhite's first place finish in the 3-meter springboard diving added 16 points to UCL's team total of 206.

Poetically, Irvine's three seniors were on deck for the 800-yard freestyle relay finale, Dave Belknap (Fullerton) and All-American water poloists Pat Glasgow (Corona del Mar) and Bob Nealy (Corona del Mar).

There was some doubt as to whether Glasgow and Bill Leach (Corona del Mar) could bounce back in the relay with their usual speed after finishing two-three in the finals of the 66-lap, 1650 yard freestyle two hours earlier.

Belknap had been busy as well, winning the championship finals of the 100-yard freestyle in 48.9, after having to swim two heats in the afternoon to make the elite top-six in the 100.

UCSB moved to an eight-yard lead after the first leg of the 800 relay and increased it during the fourth leg. UCI's tired foursome finished third, behind the Guachos and San Jose State.

During the three-day championships, UCI rewrote a major portion of its school records, 10, and established one NCAA record in the 400-yard freestyle relay--which had to be the most exciting event of the meet.

Belknap, sophomore Bob Sharp (Buena Park), Nealy and freshman Steve Farmer (Newport Beach) put the Anteaters in national ink with their record-breaking 3:14.9 in the 400-yard relay, nine tenths of a second better than Cal State Long Beach's record of 1966.

The 103-1/2 point outburst started with Glasgow and Leach's 25 markers in the 1650 freestyle. Glasgow, incidentally, accounted for 42 points in the meet, fourth best behind double record-breakers Dave Gray of UCSB and Dick Nesbit and Doug Russell, both of Arlington State.

Belknap and Farmer added 20-1/2 in the 100-yard freestyle as Dave finished first and Farmer tied for seventh. It was at this point Anteater followers could see possibilities for a championship.

Pete Stys (Laguna Beach) snapped the school record as he won the consolation finals (seventh place) in the 200-yard breaststroke in 2:20.7, accounting for seven more points.

Sharp edged out Malcom Bears of Oneonta for third place in the 100-yard butterfly finals for another 11 points. The big red-head bested his UCI record of 54.6 with 53.5 in the preliminaries and 53.9 in the finals.

Wilhite then doubled his 3-meter diving lead in the finals, winning first place with a 410.50 score, good enough for another 16 points.

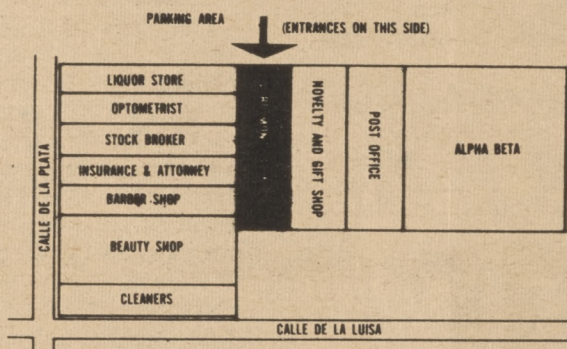

Nine of Irvine's 15 team members scored all but two of the 246 points. That ninesome included Glasgow, 42; Belknap, 37; and Nealy, 25; junior Leach 33; and sophomores Sharp, 28 1/2; Wilhite, 27; Stys, 12-1/2; and Dave Smith (Newport Beach), 9; and freshman Farmer, 30.

Glasgow's third place finish in the 200-yard butterfly championship was the least expected Anteater finish of the meet. The all-purpose senior broke Sharp's school record twice, with 2:04.4 in the prelims and 2:03.8 in the finals.

UCI defeated UCSB in a dual meet, 62-42, earlier in the year but didn't quite have the depth to win against the Gauchos 18-man squad in the championships, where 12 places in each event score points.

L. W. Authoress Publishes Book On County's Streets, City Names

With the publication of her second book "Orange County's Spanish-Named Communities and Streets," Leisure World authoress Myra B. Cochran hopes to "eliminate the mysteries and simplify pronunciation and definition of Spanish words, and phrases."

More than 1,800 streets bearing musical sounding Spanish names are listed in the new directory ranging from Abajo (ah-BAH-hoh) to Zeta (SEH-tah).

A former Washington, D.C. executive secretary to various U. S. Senators and Congressmen, Mrs. Cochran was inspired to compile the book "to save the beauty of the Spanish language." Assisting in the monumental project was Louise Jarratt Geiger, a college Spanish teacher for more than 30 years.

Admittedly, Mrs. Cochran realizes the daily influx of newcomers to California and their lack of knowledge in proper pronunciation accounts for much of the "fractured Spanish."

"For example," she laughed, "I've heard so many people refer 'La Jolla' instead of lah-HOH-yah. Or then there's the frequently mentioned 'San Jacinto' that may come out 'San-Jus-in-to' instead of the correct 'sahn-hah-SEEN-toh'."

Leaving years of work in the Nation's capitol behind her, Mrs. Cochran moved to San Diego with her husband Todd. After his death in 1961, she resumed her Washington, D. C. career returning the second time to San Diego to continue work on a manuscript in 1964.

This resulted in the publication of her first directory "Where We Live" -- a compilation of some 1,500 names of the Spanish-named communities and streets in San Diego County, their phonetic pronunciation and meaning. The book has been widely distributed among universities, colleges and public libraries throughout California and the United States.

In her latest book covering Orange County streets, Mrs

Cochran reports there are a few duplications of the first publication because of the popularity of particular Spanish names.

Illustrations in the current book include such historic sites as Mission San Juan Capistrano, the bell and El Camino Real and others. Drawings were done by commercial artist Rick Koesterer.

Copies of both books are at book stores throughout the county as well as from Mrs. Cochran directly at her home at 436-G Avenida Sevilla, Laguna Hills, California, 92653. Price of the Orange County book is $2.75 plus California sales tax.

LW AUTHORESS Myra B. Cochran takes a final look at her publication "Orange County's Spanish Named Communities and Streets." The book was Mrs. Cochran's second publication.

Mission Viejo's La Paz Plaza Opens Saturday

La Paz Plaza, first neighborhood shopping center to be built in the new community of Mission Viejo will open for business Saturday.

The new shopping facility will provide local stores and professional services to more than 700 families now living in the popular Orange County community.

Designed by Burke, Kober, Nicholas & Archuleta, the shopping center at La Paz Road and Chrisanta Drive has a Spanish theme incorporating red tile roofs, rough sawn beams and unique adobe brick exteriors in keeping with the early California tradition of Rancho Mission Viejo.

Major tenants include Thriftmart, United California Bank, and a Union Oil station. Other service facilities opening next week at the center include Mission Florists, Morrison Pharmacy, La Paz Cleaners, Phillip's Hair Fashions, Dr. Robert O'Callaghan, D.D.S., and Dr. Konstantin Sparkuhl, M.D.

A post office will also be located in the mall area.

Leases have been signed for the addition of a hardware store and a barber shop in the shopping center within six to eight weeks, according to E. B. Akins, Mission Viejo Company vice president.

Residents of Mission Viejo will be given a preview of the new shopping facilities at an all-day celebration on March 31.

HALLUCINATING . . .

AN INTRODUCTORY OFFER

I have decided that my first column should deal with informing you of what I intend to do in this space every week, and why.

Perhaps one of the major problems in the United States today is a genuine lack of understanding between the two major generations.

Being a member of the "new generation," I feel I should take advantage of my association with, and position on, this newspaper to, in my own small way, contribute to the solving of this problem.

No one person can, of course, speak for his entire generation. That some people think they can is part of the crisis.

So I will not pretend to be representing my entire generation, but will try to offer what my thoughts for the week are, and what I have discussed with friends in my own age group.

Main points of my discussions will be politics, religion, sex, and cybernation.

It is my sincere intent not to "candy coat" anything, but tell you what I think the "new generation" believes about these important subjects.

If I sometimes seem hypocritical, it is only because I'm still growing up, and am constantly changing (i.e. improving upon) my own beliefs. Perhaps that is the beauty of this new generation.

To help you understand why I write some of the things I do, perhaps you should know a little bit about me.

I moved to Garden Grove in 1953, and entered the first grade, continuing through the Garden Grove elementary and high school system before entering Santa Ana College.

In my early days in Garden Grove, the community strongly resembled the area you are now living in. My association with the RANCHO REPORTER stems from SAC.

Having been raised as a Democrat, I'm now an Independent (i.e. confused). And having been raised Baptist, now "believe in the belief" (i.e. acknowledge freely the existence of God in the minds and hearts of billions).

I have a strange sense of maturity for a 20-year-old college sophomore, probably stemming from the responsibility I've forced on myself in the newspaper world. I have been writing and editing for county papers for three years.

During this time I have met and worked with many older people on an equal basis. This has forced a certain degree of understanding of "the other generation" on me.

And from this beginning I will author "Hallucinating."

"Cold Blood" Murder Play Opens At Laguna Playhouse

Murder in cold blood is the theme of "Rope," the next Laguna Playhouse production set for April 5 through 22, Wednesdays through Saturdays.

Directed by H. J. S. Sterling, a noted stage, film, radio and television director, "Rope" was written by Patrick Hamilton. The British playwright is also the author of "Gaslight" which starred Ingrid Bergman in the movie version. "Rope" was successfully transferred to the screen, directed by Alfred Hitchcock and featuring James Stewart, Farley Granger and John Dall.

For the Laguna production,

Sterling has updated the "kill-for-thrill" horror drama reportedly based on the infamous Leopold-Loeb murder case of the 20s. "Rope" is set in contemporary London, the "swingingest city in the world today."

Starring are Terrence Doyle in the Jimmy Stewart role of Rupert, Richard Hanson as Brandon and Tony Joyce as Granillo. Hanson persuades his roommate, Joyce, to assist him in the coldblooded murder of a perfectly harmless young man for the mere sake of adventure, danger and "the thrill of the thing." Hanson and Joyce—wealthy, young, handsome Oxford undergraduates—apparently have absolutely no motive for committing a gruesome crime.

Because of the agonizingly suspenseful beginning of "Rope," the curtain will rise at 8:30 sharp and no one will be seated during the first 10 minutes of the play, according to Irma Nofziger, Players' general manager.

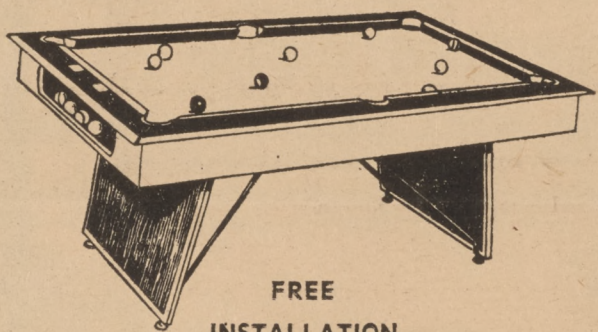

Technical director for "Rope" is Paul Toft, with Jean Hubler as coordinator, Herman Boodman, Mission Viejo designed the set and is also stage manager. Props are handled by Jill Rimer, Carol Cole and Betsy Jago.

Reservations for "Rope" may be made by phoning the Playhouse, 494-8061, or by mail to 319 Ocean Ave., Laguna Beach 92651. Tickets are $2.25 on Wednesdays and Thursdays, except opening night and $2.50 Fridays, Saturdays, and opening night.

Kappa Kappa's To Sponsor Interior Design Benefit

Kappa Kappa Gamma Alumnae Association of Southern Orange County invites you to attend the eighth annual benefit interior design show "Kappa Kaleidoscope" at the Newport Inn, Jamboree Hall, on April 7, 8 and 9, announced Mrs. Patsy Recht, El Toro, this week.

The open house will run from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Friday and Sunday, and from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturday.

On Friday, April 7, there will be a luncheon from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. at the Newport Inn. Donation will be $6.

On Saturday, April 8, there will be a cocktail party from 7 p.m. until 10. Donation will be $3.

On Sunday, April 9, there will be a Hunt Breakfast from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. with a donation of $55.

Reservations for the above should be made with Mrs. Roger Garrett, 2595 Iris Way, Laguna Beach. Mrs. Garrett's phone is 494-6216.

Eighteen different designers decorated the interiors for the open house. The art exhibit for the affair is by the Mary Elsworth Gallery.

Kappa Kappa Gamma's goal is a scholarship to every high school in Orange County.
